

FRIEDLAND

I am ordered by my own feeling and by order of our chief at G S U and supreme soldier Joachim to say some words of thanks to all You who have given us these beautiful day and hours in Friedland

At first, I think, we must give thanks to our two Sisters. You were our Sisters in the best sense of the world. I think that You have worked much more than we in carefully preparation our meals. The hours with You will ever be in best remembrance to us.

And now I come to our dear Ramsay and Fred. You, Ramsay were like a father to us and thought of all things that were necessary to enjoy us. And You, dear Freddy were the best headman for us in building barracks. Your guilty know us not at least in the beautiful evening-party when we could admire the sociated customs of Your dancing. I never thought that we would become so well known to each other. Already in the short time of one week and friendly relations arose. This feeling of friendship, I think, developed not only between You both and us, but also between Your friends in Bremke and us.

We hope this way be the beginning of the life of
I. V. S. P. idea in Germany. And by this way we always should be glad to meet You again.

We want You full success for Your future work in Germany and abroad.

We give thanks to our English friends by three cheers.
